

In reference to FCC Docket No. 02-278

I implore you to not change Indiana's no call list law. It has been much more pleasant in my home, especially when my family sets down to supper, since we have not been harassed by telemarketers. We would get, on average, 3-4 calls PER NIGHT trying to sell us something we did not want. Now we can set down to a meal or for family time and not be bothered by the phone ringing constantly. I think that this law is one of the best that Indiana has done for its residents' peace of mind. Please do not let this go.

Sincerely,

Alice Quinn
